About Me

I am passionate about music, which led me to learn to play the drums at a young age. Being blind has never been a limitation for me but rather a challenge that has fueled my drive for excellence in everything I do. As a proud Mexican, I decided to pursue opportunities beyond my borders and seek education at the best music school in the world. In addition to playing the drums, I am deeply interested in music production, especially its creative aspects. I thrive on assembling and leading teams to ensure that both songs and performers achieve their highest potential.
